

D.A. says: insufficient evidence to charge officer

D.A. closes investigation of former Wilmington Police Officer Steven LaRivee after 8 months

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Eight months ago a Woburn Street house in Wilmington, rented by a Wilmington Police Officer, was broken into by a group of teenaged boys who stole a number of firearms. The boys involved lived in both Wilmington and Tewksbury. The office of Middlesex District Attorney Gerald Leone told the Crier this week that it has finally completed an investigation into the incident, determining that there is insufficient evidence to bring criminal charges against Officer Steven LaRivee.

"It was discovered that Officer LaRivee stored numerous firearms in the home, some of which had been stolen in the course of the breaking and entering. We conducted an extensive investigation to determine whether Officer LaRivee's storage of the firearms was in violation of the law," said spokesman for the Middlesex D.A., Corey Welford. "Specifically the law requires that firearms be equipped with trigger locks or be secured in a locked container."

Welford stated that the investigation included inspection of the scene at 764 Woburn Street, ballistic analysis, and witness statements.

"Upon completion of that investigation we found no credible evidence to prove that he had been in violation of the law and insufficient evidence to bring criminal charges in this case," said Welford.

According to Massachusetts General Laws section 131L (a), it is unlawful to store or keep any firearm "unless such weapon is secured in a locked container or equipped with a tamper resistant mechanical lock or other safety device, properly engaged so as

Kids: wanna make your own TV show?

Summer opportunities at WCTV

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - Wanted: Kids who want to be in pictures.

Does your son constantly narrate the ball game? Does your daughter stay up on the latest movies, books or fashions? Is your child a news junkie? Is she constantly finding the flubs in filmmaking? WCTV has an exciting summer opportunity for your television savvy offspring.

Starting next week Wilmington (and Tewksbury) kids can start one of three programs geared toward introducing them to media technology and practice. The Crier talked to Dan Dilworth, the Youth Outreach Coordinator for Wilmington Community Television.

First up, the Video Vacation Program offers a week-long introduction to WCTV and its programming. Kids learn how to use a camera, operate editing software, write scripts, and work in the studio. Each week culminates in the students creating a five-minute movie or a two-minute public service announcement. The program is open to children ages 9 and up. Two sessions are available, June 22-26 and July 13-17, meeting from 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Parents are encouraged to visit WCTV to pre-register a child, though pre-registration is not mandatory. Release forms and any additional paperwork are completed the first day.

For those kids really focused on news and events of the day, or need a more flexible opportunity, Hey! Listen Up! may be just the thing.

Eighth graders tap Dana-Farber research for science contest

WILMINGTON - It is unusual, to say the least, for 14-year-olds to be poring over original cancer research reports, but that's what students in Jennifer Judkins' eighth-grade science class at Wilmington Middle School have been doing this spring.

For a state-wide contest, they read and summarized research findings by investigators from Dana-Farber and other medical centers, then made colorful posters which could win them as much as $500. In the process, they learned about stem cells, zebrafish, nanotechnology, and what the feared word "cancer" really means - the uncontrolled growth of what began as normal cells in the body. "It makes it a little less scary when they understand the biological process," says Judkins.

She and the students scanned the Dana-Farber Web site for lay-language descriptions of recent findings from Dana-Farber labs. With the help of the Department of Communications and the Benacerraf Library, they obtained electronic versions of original published articles. "Pulling the journal articles provided an opportunity to explain to the students how scientists communicate their findings in peer-reviewed journals," Judkins observed.

Trivia-mania takes town by storm

An evening of tough questions - including "Will you marry me?"

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Rotary Club's First Annual Trivia Night was a resounding success this past Friday night. The Knights of Columbus Hall was filled with 55 teams, leaving little room for the many spectators eager to root on their favorite team.

The biggest winners of the night were the children of Wilmington, as proceeds from the event will go toward funding Wilmington Rotary Club's many scholarships.

The second biggest winners of the evening were Allan Abbott and Robin Mainini. Abbott chose to propose to Robin during the evening in a scheme cooked up ahead of time between Abbott, Master of Ceremonies Harry Cunningham, and Master of Ceremonies Steve Bjork. Cunningham, who spent the evening roaming the floor with a cordless microphone, presented a "bonus" question to Abbott's table. Abbott was given the opportunity to direct the question to anyone on his team. Reading from a slip of paper, Abbott directed the supposed trivia question to Mainini, asking, "Who would you like to spend the rest of your life with?"

Abbott then dropped to one knee and presented the ring. Fortunately the answer was an enthusiastic, "Yes."

The room erupted in applause as chilled champagne and balloons were brought out to the table.

Rotary Club members have been nearly inundated with positive reviews following the evening, and promise that

Elderly Drivers

Policy choices on Beacon Hill, local solutions

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - The recent death of a 4-year-old girl in Stoughton who was hit by an 89-year-old driver, accompanied by multiple other motor vehicle accidents involving senior citizens, brings into sharp relief an issue many families must grapple with every day: when is it time for a loved one to stop driving.

State senator Brian Joyce proposed Senate Bill 1929, a late filing, that would require all drivers 85-years and up to take a drivers test to determine whether they may retain their driver's license. The prospect seems like a good idea to some, and very concerning to those worried that loss of a driver's license is tantamount to loss of transportation.

Senate Bill 1929, and the overarching issue of elder driving, has captured the attention of local legislators as well.

State Senator Bruce Tarr,

Popping the question

Allan Abbott got down on one knee and asked Robin Mainini to be his wife during the Wilmington Rotary Club's Trivia Night last Friday evening. It was, by far, the easiest question of the evening for Robin. She answered, yes.

Looking back at Wilmington of yesteryear...

Main road to back road

By LARZ F. NEILSON

WILMINGTON - Today, the end of old Shawsheen Avenue is a quiet road, almost a dead-end. This is quite ironic, considering its history of being one of Wilmington's main thoroughfares.

Some 210 years ago, the Middlesex Canal came through Wilmington, and a lock was built at Shawsheen Avenue where the canal dropped nine feet. The Canal House, still standing, was a boarding house for passengers on the canal at its halfway point between Boston and the Merrimack River.

When the Boston and Lowell Railroad was built about 1835, the rail line crossed Shawsheen Avenue right next to the locks. The railroad trustees had seen accidents occur on other lines where horses, buggies and wagons were hit by a train. So they decided to build bridges to carry the roads over the railroad tracks. Thus, Wilmington had seven such bridges, one of them at the beginning of Shawsheen Avenue. Today, the Shawsheen Avenue bridge is for pedestrian traffic only.

The bridges were quite adequate for horse-drawn vehicles, especially in a quiet town with little traffic. But the steep approaches and narrow bridges were cursed by motorists whenever they met someone traveling in the opposite direction.

By the 1950s, those old bridges were a problem. Modern vehicles, especially large gravel trucks, were simply too much for the bridges. In November 1957, a gravel truck damaged the Shawsheen Avenue bridge. It remained closed for nearly five months while the selectmen battled the Boston & Maine Railroad over the repairs. The railroad was nearly bankrupt at that point, not that it had ever taken care of the bridges.

Town Counsel Philip Buzzell had a copy of a court decision from the 1930s which ruled that the bridges were the responsibility of the railroad, while the approaches belonged to the town.

But there was another ruling that said the town could not close a bridge to trucking without providing an alternate route. And since the rail line divided the town, any alternate route involved a weak bridge, or else a detour via Route 128, many miles out of the way.

In February 1958, the town received a letter indicating that the railroad would make the repairs. But a month later, another letter was received, this time from the vice-president of engineering for the railroad, negating the previous letter. S.G. Phillips took the position that the railroad would require the town to protect its bridge before the railroad would repair it.

The selectmen were furious. Chairman Francis Haggerty wrote, "Neither the statutes nor the court decisions state or infer that the town shall guarantee full protection to your bridge before your company meets its obligations."

The Mass. Dept. of Public Works wanted to build a new bridge, but that could not be done in the existing location, and it would take several years.

Eventually, the matter ended up on the desk of Gov. Foster Furcolo, who prevailed upon WOBURN - Lt. Governor Timothy Murray will be coming to Woburn on Friday with an expressed purpose of surveying the area of the New Boston Street Bridge.

The New Boston Street Bridge connects Wilmington to Woburn by way of Woburn Street on the Wilmington side and New Boston Street on the Woburn side.

Motorists have longed for the bridge to be re-built, while residents see it as a way of reducing traffic on heavily-traveled Main Street in Woburn and Wilmington.

Lt. Gov. Murray will be arriving at the Career Place in North Woburn at noontime and will meet with area city and state officials. He will then proceed to the Woburn

It's Your Money

FOLLOW-UP ON CAR DONATIONS

Remember when you could give your old car to a charity and deduct a lot of money for it? Some charities would give you a write-off receipt for more than you could get in a trade-in, and many people took advantage of the opportunity.

That's probably why Uncle Sam tightened the rules considerably in 2005. Immediately, claims dropped. While 900,000 taxpayers claimed $2.4 billion on their returns in 2004, the numbers dropped to 300,000 claims for just $470 million on the 2005 returns. (Similarly: After Congress required people to list the tax ID numbers of dependents, some 7 million "dependents" disappeared!)

Here's the current rule: if the claimed value for a vehicle is more than $500, and the charitable group sells it, then the donor generally can deduct only the amount of the proceeds of the sale. But the donor can deduct the entire market value of the vehicle if the charity gives it to a needy person.

Will your deductions stand up? Discuss your tax issues with us at side of the New Boston Street Bridge to survey the area.

"We have already met on two different occasions on the bridge," notes Woburn State Rep. James Dwyer, who came into office in January.

The bridge has been a constant project for recent State Representatives like Carol Donovan, D. Woburn and Rep. Patrick Natale, D. Woburn. Rep. Jay Kaufman, D. Woburn, who represents Wards 1 and 7 (South End and West Woburn) has also been active in pursuing the construction of the bridge.

The bridge has not been in use since the early 1970s.

Back last July, Natale and Kaufman announced the House of Representatives passed their version of the Transportation Bond Bill to secure funding for the construction of sound barriers along Interstate 93 and Route 128 (I-95) and for the construction of the New Boston Street Bridge.

The New Boston Street Bridge, they noted in July, was previously funded for $450,000.00 to help finance the design of the new bridge.

This $4.5M amendment in the Transportation Bond Bill will be for the development and construction of the bridge helping to alleviate large commercial truck traffic, improving the overall safety for the residents in the affected area.

Rep. Natale and Rep. Kaufman stated in a prepared statement at the time "that we are committed to working with members of the General Court to pledge that these most important projects are completed."

They added, "that after decades of neglecting the needs of our community and the transportation infrastructure, we must comprehensively perform, develop and implement the construction of the New Boston Street Bridge and the Woburn Sound Barriers to improve the quality of life for the residents of Woburn."

The Woburn Sound Barrier amendment would fund the design and construction of sound barriers along I93 and Route 128 in the city of Woburn, they noted.

These barriers would help reduce the tremendous noise produced by traffic, aid in reducing health issues stemming from vehicle emissions and have a positive overall environmental impact on each individual resident that has a home along these heavily traveled highways.

Wilmington Rotarians Joe Bilicki, Suzi Cushing and George Hooper sold 50/50 raffle tickets at Trivia night on Friday. The winner took in more than $600, and generously donated $100 of it back to the Wilmington Rotary Scholarship Fund.

Hall of Famer Wade Boggs, Patriots kicker Gostkowski to appear at Spinners games this weekend

Boggs - celebrity bartender, Gostkowski to kick autographed balls into stands

LOWELL - The Lowell Spinners, Class-A Affiliate of the Boston Red Sox, will welcome Red Sox legend and Major League Baseball Hall of Famer Wade Boggs and Patriots kicker Stephen Gostkowski to LeLachur Park as part of the opening weekend of the 2009 season.

Boggs will be on hand Saturday June 20 for the first hour after gates open pouring his favorite, Miller High Life, at the newly renovated Miller/Coors Hut on the first base concourse. The event is brought to the Spinners by the Merrimack Valley Distribution Group, the official beer provider of the Lowell Spinners.

"We are excited to kick off our partnership with the Merrimack Valley Distribution Group with a visit from Wade Boggs," said Spinners Vice President and General Manager Tim Bawmann. "The opportunity to have your cold Miller High Life poured by one of the best hitters the game of baseball has ever seen is an once-in-a-lifetime experience."

During his minor league career, Boggs played with the Elmira Pioneers, the precursor to the Lowell Spinners, under former Spinners manager Dick Berardino. Boggs was honored by the Spinners in 2008 with an Elmira Pioneers Bobble Head Giveaway.

Gostkowski will be returning to LeLachur Park for a third consecutive year Sunday, June 21, in what has become one of the most popular promotions on a yearly basis. The Patriots All-Pro kicker will kick autographed NFL footballs from the field into the waiting arms of fans in the stands.

"Stephen is one of the best kickers in the NFL," said Bawmann. "When that ball is flying towards you in the stands, you feel like you are on the field with him."

The Spinners 2009 season officially kicks off Friday, June 19 when the Vermont Lake Monsters arrive in town. Tickets are always available through the Spinners Box Office at 978-459-1702.

Kids: wanna make your own TV show?

Hey! Listen Up! is a news show written and produced by kids ages 9 to 12.

"The students can write serious or silly news stories, sports news, celebrity gossip - only for kids, by kids," said Dilworth.

Hey! Listen Up! meets weekly on Wednesdays, 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., from July 1 to August 19. Again, parents should visit WCTV in advance or with their child on the first day of the program.

Finally, the third program, Fast Forward, offers a more independent program for youngsters aged 13 and up. Dilworth will meet with them on the first day and discuss the group project, perhaps a documentary, or a weekly interview show, and create a production timeline. The program meets Wednesdays, from 2:00 - 4:00 p.m., and Thursdays, 11:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m., from July 1 and 2 to August 19 and 20.

The best part is the cost, free to all members. A WCTV membership is just $25 a year for a family rate, or $10 per year for a student rate. WCTV memberships are not limited to Wilmington residents, Tewksbury residents can join in as well.

"We teach the children about television production. We do it because it is in line with our mission of keeping people involved with TV production and I think it is good to give kids something to do during the long summer months," said Dilworth.

The studio recently moved from the Swain School to impressive new space at 10 Waltham Street in Wilmington.

"We're very excited to introduce people to our new space," Dilworth said. "We have a lot of new equipment. It's a lot cleaner, brighter than we had before. We do have a top-of-the-line studio and station to show to people."

Parents with questions should call Dan Dilworth at WCTV at 978-657-4066.

Letters to the editor

Long overdue

To the Editor:

Many, many years ago when Massachusetts enacted a sales tax, essential items like food and clothing were exempted - and rightly so. I was surprised and a bit angry to learn that alcohol had somehow been exempted from the tax as well - no doubt due to great lobbying by the alcohol industry. Ours is one of only six states that does not tax alcohol at retail stores. Finally, lawmakers are considering a repeal of the sales tax exemption for alcohol and many lawmakers are fighting to have some of that new revenue go towards substance abuse prevention, treatment and recovery services. On June 10th, I visited the State House and had the good fortune to run into our State Representative, Jim Miceli. Though still undecided on the tax issue, Representative Miceli demonstrated a commitment to increasing our investment in substance abuse services. I hope that he will also vote to repeal this special interest exemption. It's long overdue.

Ashamed of Tewksbury

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my outrage over the Tewksbury School Committee decision to lay off all of the teachers in hope to rehire at 90% pay. While I understand this is a difficult financial time, I can't see this decision as anything other than morally reprehensible.

I recently graduated from a prestigious college consistently ranked as one of the top schools in this country. With that degree, I am going on to teach in an underfunded school system in hope of helping alleviate the achievement gap for our nation's children.

None of this would have been possible with out the education I was able to receive at the hands of the Tewksbury teachers. As a lifetime Tewksbury resident, I graduated Tewksbury Memorial High School in 2005. Although that was during the time where the high school was working on its accreditation, it quickly became clear that the real strength of the school was not the school committee, the curriculum, or the building itself, but the superior quality of the teachers. Some of the teachers I was lucky enough to have in my time there not only helped prepare me for college and for life, but also are the type of teacher I will attempt to model as I become a classroom teacher next fall.

If the teachers are the strength of the school system, the school system is the strength of the town. It is unimaginable that any new parent would move to a town with a failing school system, and the amount of money lost in property values seems catastrophic. It would seem that money saved by reducing teacher pay will not even make an impact on the loss of property values due to the weaker school system.

My heart goes out to those current students that the school committee effectively decided were only 90% worth it. In these difficult economic times, the education of the children must be the highest priority and the teachers should be an extremely valued resource. I am ashamed to see that this was not the case in a town that I have been so proud to call home. Never in my life have I ever been so disappointed to be from Tewksbury.

Thank you,
Jamie Frank

Wilmington Cooks

by Paula Murphy

Diane Hanlon lost her mom, Eva Cambria, last month after a long illness. Eva is on Diane's mind daily, and Diane and I got to talking about her recipes. Eva was a very good cook, with a simple and limited repertoire. She never wrote down a recipe, and had no interest in cookbooks or in cooking anything new or different, which was surprising because she loved food, loved to talk about it, and loved to shop for it. She wasn't a baker, and never made sweets from scratch, but there were always sweets in the house.

Eva could fry anything perfectly in her electric frying pan, and most suppers were something breaded and fried, served with a simple salad.

Her secret was to egg and bread the main course early in the day and refrigerate it, because she said when fried cold, the breading never fell off. She did this with veal cutlets, chicken cutlets, pork chops, zucchini, and eggplant. The salad, always dressed with oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and oregano, was served after the meal. Diane happily remembers these suppers, and still uses Eva's electric frying pan, even though it only has three legs now and needs to be propped up. She will never replace it.

Roasted Cut-up Chicken

Take 8 parts chicken, (any parts you like) and spread them in your broiler pan.

Peel and quarter some potatoes and spread on top. Cut up an onion and add to top. Sprinkle salt, pepper, paprika and garlic powder over all and dot with butter. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Five minutes before it looks done, add a can of peas. Nice Italian bread dipped in the pan drippings is really good.

Potatoes, Peppers, and Eggs

(we used to line up for this, folded into soft Italian bread) Cut up one green pepper, one onion, one red pepper, and two potatoes and cook in an electric frying pan with oil until soft. Add one dozen slightly beaten eggs, salt and pepper. Cook until the eggs are solid. This is even better eaten cold the next day.

Pasta with Garguzza (Zucchini)

This is a great Lenten or summertime supper.

Brown until wilted 2 or 3 thin zucchini, cut in 1/4" thick circles with the skin on, in oil in an electric fryer. Add garlic, salt and pepper when almost done, so the garlic has a chance to turn golden, but doesn't burn. Toss with a pound of cooked hot spaghetti and one cup reserved spaghetti water. Serve with grated cheese and crushed red pepper.

He's a Survivor

LOWELL - Summer-time tends to be a busy time of the year for many animal shelters, including the Lowell Humane Society. Most are overwhelmed with the number of cats surrendered to them. Since cats tend to breed in the warmer months, summer time is a harsh reminder of the number of cats within their community that continue to not be spayed and neutered. Since April 1st, the Lowell Humane Society has seen 467 animals that were either unwanted or unable to get the care they needed. 339 of these animals were cats.

The Lowell Humane Society provides these animals with a warm and comfortable place to live, food, vaccinations and medical care. In some cases, they look to you, their supporters, to help provide necessary medical care. In July of 2008, Tobby's Fund was created to help provide care to some of the animals brought to the shelter in need of immediate veterinary or medical care. They have helped many animals since then, but there are so many more that need your help.

Scout was surrendered to the Humane Society at the end of May. His story isn't anything extraordinary. In fact, many cats and kittens share his story. He was left behind by one owner, taken in by another, given away and then brought to the shelter in hopes of finding a new permanent home. What makes Scout's story a bit different is that he came to the shelter unable to bear any weight on his right rear leg and it is unknown how long he had been suffering from this condition. Within 24hrs of arriving at the shelter, he was seen by a veterinarian to have x-rays taken. It was determined that he had a broken hip that required immediate surgery to fix and a hernia that needed repair.

The Lowell Humane Society is committed to getting Scout the care that he needs, but they are asking for your help. Please make a donation to the Tobby Fund to help Scout and other shelter animals in need of critical care. Money donated towards this fund goes to support the medical needs of the animals currently at the shelter.

The Lowell Humane Society is located at 951 Broadway Street in Lowell. For more information on the adoption process please visit their website at: www.lowellhumane-society.org or call the shelter at (978) 452-7781. They do not receive state or federal funding and rely only on donations from the community.

Holy Family plans new Emergency Dept.

METHUEN - June 8, 2009 - Holy Family Hospital will appear before the Methuen Planning Commission on June 10, 2009 to seek approval to build a new Emergency Department.

Designed to deliver cutting-edge emergency medicine in a community setting, the proposed 26,000 square foot Emergency Department will consist of 34 beds with the capacity for 54,000 visits annually. Pending regulatory and financial approvals, the project is expected to break ground in the fall of 2009 and open about a year later. Caritas Christi Health Care has committed to building the new facility at an estimated cost of $21 million, once financing has been secured. The hospital also intends to fund $2 million of the project through private donations by launching a capital campaign.

"Our community deserves access to the best that modern medicine has to offer, especially when faced with a medical emergency," said Lester P. Schindel, President and CEO of Holy Family Hospital. "A new emergency department will enhance our ability to better serve our community and provide cutting-edge medicine in a safe and comfortable environment where family members and loved ones can be by their side. We are always patient focused!"

Holy Family's new Emergency Department will replace the nearly 40-year old building with a modern, state-of-the-art facility. Specific enhancements will include:

- All private rooms
- 10 additional bays (34 total)
- Improved access to treatment with 6 dedicated Fast Track beds
- Larger ambulance bay
- Larger, comfortable patient/family waiting area
- Advanced technology such as Digital X-ray and CT Scanning

Holy Family has decided to replace its new Emergency Department to accommodate the increased demand for services seen in recent years, the projected increase in population among people over age 45 in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and to provide the community with better access to the latest advancements in technology and emergency medicine. Holy Family sees some 40,000 patient visits to its existing Emergency

Your Two Cents...

The picture of the man on the toilet in the Memorial Dad Parade in Tewksbury was offensive enough, but now that it is part of the advertising for the Town Crier is even more offensive. Someone needs to explain what sitting on a toilet reading the paper has to do with Cub Scouts and Memorial Day. We wonder what has become of this world and the people in it, and this is a perfect example of what has become "acceptable" in our society. I am offended by this and disgusted. Wilmington

In regard to last Wednesday's School Committee meeting, I have to say that I was disappointed to hear a teacher remark to the School Committee that "you should be going to bat for us!" Where have you been? If you had been following this budget crisis and been involved in the process you would know that they HAVE been going to bat for you. I would like to thank all of the citizens in our community who have volunteered endless hours of their time, away from their families, in order to brain storm and problem solve to come up with a solution to this crisis - including the School Committee. So many people have worked tirelessly in an effort to improve our community and keep our school system intact. I am so thankful to all of you who have given so much energy to this situation. I wish there was the same attendance from the teachers at all the prior meetings that led up to this decision as there was at last week's meeting. The School Committee and the BAC would have LOVED your input and would have welcomed you to be a part of this whole process. Where have you been? Tewksbury

I would like to say shame on the Wilmington residents who leave notes for the hardworking newspaper delivery person complaining that the newspaper is not close enough to their house. Are they not aware that this person delivers hundreds of newspapers 7 days a week, wakes up at 2:30 a.m. (while they are comfortably sleeping in their beds)? This delivery person typically has a family and children they send off to school at 6:30 a.m. before heading to their second job, working 9-to-5 and then coming home, starting dinner, putting the kids to bed, and starting the day all over again at 2:30 a.m.!

These people are not only inconsiderate, but lazy as well. These special requests are acceptable when coming from the elderly, not the young and able-bodied residents who are the ones complaining. Wilmington

Talford and Boudreau-Hill chosen

The two Tewksbury teachers to participate in prestigious National Endowment

LOWELL - The University of Massachusetts Lowell's Tsongas Industrial History Center announced that it has selected Ms. Ginamarie Talford and Ms. Donna Boudreau-Hill from Tewksbury Memorial High School to participate in a prestigious National Endowment for the Humanities "Landmarks of American History and Culture" teacher workshop entitled "Inventing America - Lowell and the Industrial Revolution." Ms. Talford and Ms. Hill were selected from an applicant group of nearly 270 teachers from around the United States. This workshop is part of NEH's "We the People" project, which promotes the teaching, study, and understanding of American history and culture through the exploration of significant events and themes in American history.

Ms. Talford and Ms. Hill will join 39 other teachers from dozens of different states in an intensive, week-long workshop at Lowell National Historical Park and the Tsongas Industrial History Center in Lowell, Massachusetts. Through scholarly presentations and on-site investigations of the canals, mills, and worker housing in America's first large-scale planned industrial city, as well as through field studies of Old Sturbridge Village, Walden Pond, and Minute Man National Historical Park, workshop participants will explore the far-reaching economic and social changes brought about by industrialization. Teachers will use primary sources provided throughout the workshop to develop lesson plans that can be incorporated into their school's curriculum. Participants will receive a stipend to cover housing and meals, with travel assistance available on a case-by-case basis.

"We are very pleased to be selected to participate in this national workshop. It will enable us to identify teaching materials we can use with our students to engage them in understanding how the Industrial Revolution laid the foundation for the United States to become a powerful nation and to better understand today's global textile economy as well. We look forward to visiting these local resources and incorporating them into our curriculum," offered Talford and Boudreau-Hill.

"The NEH 'Landmarks of American History and Culture' workshops provide the Tsongas Industrial History Center with a wonderful opportunity to introduce teachers from across the United States to Lowell's unique historic resources," said Sheila Kirschbaum, coordinator of the Tsongas Center's "Inventing America: Lowell and the Industrial Revolution" Program.

U.S. Congresswoman Niki Tsongas said, "I congratulate the educators who were selected to participate in the Inventing America workshop in Lowell this spring," said Fifth District Congresswoman Niki Tsongas. "The Industrial Revolution was born on the banks of the Merrimack River, and this much-recognized workshop at the Tsongas Industrial History Center will further enrich both teachers' and students' understanding and appreciation of this historic time in our nation's history."

The Tsongas Industrial History Center is a collaborative project of the University of Massachusetts Lowell Graduate School of Education and the National Park Service at Lowell National Historical Park. The Center encourages the teaching of industrial history in a hands-on way through on- and off-site educational programs for over 60,000 students annually.

UMass Lowell, with a national reputation in science, engineering and technology, is committed to educating students for lifelong success in a diverse world and conducting research and outreach activities that sustain the economic, environmental and social health of the region. Career Exploration Day at Tewksbury Hospital

By Christine L. McGrath
Superintendent of Schools
TEWKSBURY - On Tuesday June 9, 2009 thirty-two members of the Junior Class at Tewksbury Memorial High School attended a wonderful Career Exploration Day at Tewksbury Hospital.

The day began with an orientation session led by Victoria Pike, Director of Professional Development. The orientation session provided students with an overview of the many services offered by Tewksbury Hospital, the importance of confidentiality and the commitment of the Hospital Staff to providing high quality care for all of their patients.

The students then proceeded to visit four of the many departments at the Hospital. Students selected their top four choices from among fourteen departments. Some of these departments included: Nursing, Respiratory Therapy, Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy, Pharmacy, Physician, Clinical Social Work and Radiology. Students observed the members of these Departments at work during four-45 minute rotations.

The day culminated with lunch and discussion groups led by School Department and Hospital Personnel. The discussions included the students' expectations prior to the visit and the students' impressions following the visit. The goal of the day was to expose students to many careers in health care. This is an area that many people believe to be somewhat "recession proof".

We would like to thank the members of Tewksbury Hospital especially Andrea Stanley, Director of Nursing, Deb Tobst, Chief Financial Officer and Scott Consaul, Director of Environmental Care for making this day possible for our students.

Local residents receive academic honors

Northeastern University announces spring semester 2009 dean's list

BOSTON - Northeastern University is pleased to recognize those students who distinguish themselves academically during the course of the school year.

The following local students were recently named to the University's dean's list for the 2009 spring semester, which ended in May 2009. In addition to achieving distinction through the dean's list, these students are honors students:

* Tewksbury resident Eric C. Mistretta, who is majoring in civil engineering.

* Tewksbury resident Jason J. Knight, who is majoring in accounting.

* Tewksbury resident Michael Reed, who is majoring in computer science.

* Tewksbury resident Paul Hanley, who is majoring in political science.

* Wilmington resident Jason P. Yeomelakis, who is majoring in pharmacy.

To achieve the dean's list distinction, students must carry a full program of at least four courses, have a quality point average of 3.25 or greater out of a possible 4.0 and carry no single grade lower than a C during the course of their college career. Each student receives a letter of commendation and congratulation from their college dean.

As honor students, these local residents are part of a burgeoning program at Northeastern, which offers high caliber students the chance to further hone their studies and interests, live in special interest on-campus housing, and participate in one or two honors courses each term.

Invitation into the honors program is highly competitive and students must maintain a certain GPA and strong commitment to campus leadership to remain a part. Currently, these students are among some 1,400 students involved in Northeastern's honors program.

Northeastern University is a world leader in cooperative education. After students' freshman year, Northeastern undergraduates alternate quarters of full-time study with quarters of paid work in fields relevant to their professional interests and major, giving them nearly two years of professional experience upon graduation. The former Little Mr. Tewksbury, Jack Bieren and his friend Katie Diamond. Jack will be walking in the Relay for Life this weekend raising money for cancer victims, like Katie. He says, "Kids should not get cancer."

Why are we alive?

Dewing School student makes a difference

TEWKSBURY - Jack Bieren is a first grader at the Dewing School. Last year he asked his mother a question that would change their lives for the better. Jack was a five year old kindergartner full of questions. One day he asked his Mom, "Mama why are we alive." His Mom, Karen Bieren, thought long and hard before she answered. Karen said, "I knew my answer would have a great impact on the kind of person Jack would become." Jack's Mom answered, "We are alive to make a difference in the world. We are alive to help people."

Jack has helped people and continues to make a difference. Last year Jack participated in the Relay for Life for the American Cancer Society. He walked in honor of his kindergarten teacher, Patricia Elwell, who is a cancer survivor. Jack was the top fundraiser of the entire event. He raised $2,300. Jack enjoyed participating in the Relay for Life so much that he decided to walk again this year. Jack said, "I had so much fun at Relay for Life. I walked around the track with Patrick Star, jumped in the bouncy house, and got a huge trophy for being the number one fundraiser. Relay for Life is awesome."

This year has a very special meaning. The Bierens dear friend, Katie Diamond, was diagnosed with cancer several weeks ago. Katie is a junior at Tewksbury High School. Jack says, "Katie has cancer and I'm mad. Kids should not get cancer. I love Katie and want to find a cure so nobody ever gets cancer again." On June 19, Jack will proudly walk for his friend, Katie. His Mom, Karen is the Relay for Life event chairperson. Together they will walk for hope for a cure. Together they will make a difference.

If you would like more information about Relay for Life please visit www.relayforlife.org or contact the Bieren family.

Pettengill chosen as the Jimmy Fund's 'Strike out Cancer' program Patient Partner

Lyndsey and her parents Keith and Jeanie Pettengill.

From June 10-30, customers at participating Taco Bell and KFC restaurants will be asked to contribute $1 to the Jimmy Fund as part of the restaurants' "Strike out Cancer" program. In return for their contribution, customers will receive a paper baseball icon to write their name upon and have displayed in the restaurant. It is a great way to for people to see how they can make a big difference and help "Strike out Cancer".

Lyndsey Pettengill of Tewksbury has been chosen as this year's Patient Partner. Lyndsey is a four year old Jimmy Fund Clinic patient who loves to read, color and play on the computer and dreams about becoming a nurse. Her parents say that Lyndsey's biggest milestone of the past year was getting through treatment.

Taco Bell restaurants have generously supported the Jimmy Fund since 1999 and two years ago KFC joined the efforts. Participating Taco Bell and KFC restaurants are located throughout Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maine, and New York.

"We are so proud of our team and the continued relationship with the Jimmy Fund. It is our privilege to raise money to help conquer cancer," said Roger Lockwood, Taco Bell franchisee. "We are pleased again this year to be joining forces with participating KFC stores to raise even more money for an excellent cause. Between Taco Bell and KFC, we can certainly make a big difference in the fight against cancer."

The Jimmy Fund supports the fight against cancer at Boston's Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, helping to raise the chances of survival for children and adults with cancer around the world. Since 1948, the generosity of millions of people has helped the Jimmy Fund save countless lives by furthering cancer research and care. Unrestricted support from the Jimmy Fund is an integral part of Mission Possible: The Dana-Farber Campaign to Conquer Cancer, a $1 billion capital campaign to accelerate cancer research, speed development of life-saving therapies, and expand the Institute's signature patient- and family-centered care.

Shawsheen Tech students enjoy welding competition

BILLERICA - In the end, Kristen Monfette of Notch Mechanical Constructors in Chicopee admits, there are no winners and losers.

Monfette and her company recently held its 11th annual "Notch Challenge," a welding contest sponsored by Notch and 15 other companies that have a vested interest in recruiting highly qualified welders.

Shawsheen Tech made its first appearance in the contest and was one of nine competing schools.

"It was nice to have a new school," said Monfette. "We hope Shawsheen Tech continues to be involved. It was great to meet the students and teachers from the school."

The contest is run according to ASME pipe welding standards and although the local students didn't win any first-place prizes, metal fabrication instructor John Fusco said it was a worthwhile experience for his students.

"They had fun," he said. "We were up against some veterans, but now we know what we have to do to be successful."

Fusco said the contest goes beyond seeing which students are the best at the trade.

"Notch Mechanical had the foresight to start conducting this contest to renew interest in the welding trade," he said. "Many of the qualified welders in this country are hitting the retirement age and when they are gone, who is going to rebuild the infrastructure to the country?"

Monfette is hoping that part of that answer will come from area students that were exposed to welding through the Notch Challenge.

"I think the students get excited about it and [the competition] gets them to want to practice," she said. "We want to get the pipe aspect of welding out to schools. There is a huge demand for skilled pipe welders and if schools can get some exposure to it, even if it's just through this challenge, kids can see that they have something to strive for."

Monfette said students are more marketable after these competitions.

"We love hiring kids with a [welding] background because they already have the basics down," she said. "To be a successful welder, you have to love what you do. Pipe welding is one of the hardest welding applications to do. It's not easy, but it's very rewarding."

RMLD campaign for fair rates produces positive results

READING - RMLD customers who signed letters to request the oversight of electric rates addressed to their local congressmen back in January and February have helped change the ways things are run at Independent Systems Operators - New England (ISO-NE), where power is purchased.

As a result of RMLD's and other public electric utility companies' encouraging their customers to join consumer groups and state agencies to demand a change, American Public Power Association (APPA) reports generators who bid high costs for peak power they were not capable of producing will no longer be paid even for standby potential. New England consumers paid a reported $86 million over three years for this unfair practice.

APPA reports that ISO-NE filed a petition with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) proposing to close loopholes that allowed some companies to withhold electricity by either submitting supply bids at extremely high prices or simply reneging on delivery when their high-priced bids were accepted. ISO-NE has asked FERC to change its rules to require offers associated with capacity imports to be competitively priced and to tighten its penalty rules, effective July 1.

RMLD General Manager Vinile Cameron personally delivered about 1,500 letters and pages of petitions with signatures of residents from Reading, North Reading.

Wilmington and Lynnfield to Congressman John Tierney's Washington office in February. Find out more on www.appanet.org or www.fairelectricrates.net and add your comments to the growing grassroots effort.

Winchester Hospital holds eighth annual celebration of National Cancer Survivors Day

WINCHESTER - More than 250 cancer survivors and their physicians, friends and family members recently gathered for Winchester Hospital's eighth annual celebration of National Cancer Survivors Day at the Holiday Inn Select in Woburn, offering one another support and encouragement in their shared fight against cancer.

The Red Sox-themed celebration included photos and autographs from Wally the Green Monster, the official mascot of the Boston Red Sox, and a display of Red Sox quilts handmade by Rosemary Bawn of Stow. The art exhibit "Oncology On Canvas" was displayed in the lobby. Conceived by Eli Lilly and Company, the display features paintings by cancer patients expressing their feelings about the disease.

Before attendees gathered in a circle to join vocalist Maria Gentile in singing "You'll Never Walk Alone," Dr. Kelley Cornell, associate medical clinical director of the Winchester Hospital Breast Care Center, said she looks forward to the day when the word "cancer" is uttered only when talking about the disease in the past tense.

Dr. Kristin Smith joined her colleagues in praising former and current patients for their compassion toward one another and bravery in fighting the disease. "I'm truly proud of all the survivors here tonight, and I know that sentiment is shared by my colleagues," she said. "It's our honor to take care of you."

Drs. Cornell and Smith were joined by Dr. Arlan Fuller, clinical vice president for the integration of oncology services and academic affiliations; Dr. Chitra King, chief of the Hematology-Oncology Department; Dr. Delphine Liu, associate medical imaging director of the Breast Care Center; and Drs. Ronald Nath, Stephanie Bernstein and Patrick Brophy.

Cancer survivor Linda Telfer of Stow, who was treated at Winchester Hospital for stage 1 breast cancer in 1999, said she views the event as an extension of the emotional bonding available through Winchester Hospital's educational groups for patients newly diagnosed with cancer.

"It's always fun to reconnect with other survivors and continue the bonding process begun at the Breast Care Center and Winchester Hospital," said Telfer, who is also a member of Winchester Hospital's Survivors Day Celebration Committee. "Winchester Hospital does a great job of making sure patients get the support they need every step of the way."

The two-hour event also included: baseball-themed refreshments, ice cream donated by Tom Gould of Treadwell's Ice Cream, raffles and a free gift for each attendee, free chair massages from Winchester Hospital Community Health Institute massage therapists Eamon

Joyce and Denise Lloyd, music from disc jockey Jack Ferren, dance instruction from Lianne Green and entertainment from baseball clown Lydia Brown, who gave away baseball caps. Educational materials were provided by the American Cancer Society's New England Division, YMCA of Greater Boston and A Caring Place at the Winchester Hospital Community Health Institute.

Children's Room News Big Wheels

Friday, June 26, 10 am - 12 pm

Fire engines, construction vehicles, police cars, wow! Are you fascinated by these working vehicles and others with big wheels? If so, visit them at the Willwood Street parking lot behind the library. All ages are invited to meet the Town's operators of these vehicles, ask questions, climb inside and imagine what it must be like to drive them! Due to the space needed to park these big machines, the public is requested to park at the Swain School parking lot on Middlesex Ave. Thanks to the Town of Wilmington's Department of Public Works, Fire Department and Police Department for making this program possible. This program is a great opportunity to read to your child some of the wonderful books about trucks available at the library. The Book Store Next Door will also be open at this time. A variety of great children's books are available to purchase for 50 cents to $2.00!

Thursday, July 16, 3:00 pm

The Time Warp Trio is back, and back to the future! Zapped into the twenty-first century by a magic book, Fred, Sam, and Joe find that the future is definitely worth waiting for. Actually, waiting forever would be okay. Ads no longer clog the TV airwaves-they're in 3-D and attack you on the street. Raygun-toting robots demand your ID number or else. And a meeting with your great-grandkids could knock out the old family tree at the roots. Will the trio's future mix-up wipe out the past? Will Fred survive to have a daughter who'll pitch for the 2037 Yankees? Only the time-warped future will tell. Copies of the book may be reserved by visiting or calling the Children's Room at (978) 694-2098. Drop-in for the discussion. A door prize and snack will be provided by the Friends of the Library.

Green infrastructure projects promise environmental results in Ipswich River Watershed

BOSTON - A series of low-impact development or green infrastructure projects are demonstrating techniques that show promise of improving water quality and stream flow in the Ipswich River Watershed.

The projects have been closely coordinated between EPA, the Massachusetts Dept. of Conservation and Recreation (DCR) the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS), several local communities and other stakeholders. A $1 million EPA Targeted Watershed Grant has funded nine demonstration projects to implement water conservation projects within the Ipswich River Watershed. The watershed encompasses 21 communities from Burlington in the west to Ipswich in the east.

EPA is proud of the results we are seeing due to the close collaboration between federal, state and local partners to find workable solutions that can be applied here in the Ipswich Watershed, and beyond to other stressed semi-urban ecosystems in New England, said Ira Leighton, acting regional administrator of EPA's New England office. Common-sense solutions do not have to break the budget, and can provide us with major environmental benefits.

DCR is grateful to EPA for funding these projects, which give us a chance to test out some new and perhaps better approaches to old problems, said Richard K. Sullivan Jr., Commissioner of the Massachusetts Dept. of Conservation and Recreation. We are also grateful to our municipal partners in eight communities for helping make these projects a success.

The towns of Ipswich, Wilmington, Reading, North Reading, Hamilton, Middleton, Topsfield, and the city of Peabody co-sponsored demonstration projects.

Today, local communities and state and federal officials toured four of the innovative low-impact development techniques. Several examples of low impact development and green infrastructure projects funded by EPA in the Ipswich River Watershed include:

A vegetated or green roof, atop a refurbished building that provides affordable apartments for seniors, in Ipswich at Whipple Riverview Place. The green roof is absorbing and retaining rainwater, helping to reduce erosion and pollutants from entering the river.

At Partridgeberry Place in Ipswich, a 20-lot subdivision is designed as a low-impact development by preserving open space, with the 20 homes clustered on ten acres and leaving 38 acres of undisturbed land. The development also uses narrower roads, rain gardens and specially designed grass swales.

These features help absorb more of the rainfall that falls on the ground, filtering out pollutants from the paved surfaces and replenishing underground aquifers that flow to the Ipswich River.

In a neighborhood next to Silver Lake in Wilmington, rain gardens and special permeable paving stones with underlying infiltration beds were installed along the road edge, in the public right-of-way. These colorful pocket gardens and permeable areas hold stormwater and let it soak into the ground, recharging the water tables, rather than running directly into the lake.

At the Silver Lake town beach parking lot, a variety of low-impact development features help prevent polluted stormwater from reaching the lake. These include four types of permeable paving that allow stormwater to filter through the pavement instead of flowing across it; bioretention cells planted areas that filter stormwater through soils and plantings and two vegetated swales that replace piped outfalls that previously dumped untreated stormwater directly into the lake.

Residents have spoken favorably about the visual improvements to the Silver Lake parking area, and they are certainly pleased that we have practically eliminated beach closures due to bacteria, as a result of this work, said Wilmington Town Manager Michael A. Cairns.

"The Ipswich River Watershed Association is excited by having local examples of cutting-edge methods for water conservation and management of polluted runoff," remarked Kerry Mackin, Executive Director of the Ipswich River Watershed Association.

Eighth graders tap Dana-Farber research

The highly technical articles would be heavy going for anyone not in the field. Judkins helped her students glean the highlights of the findings, without going into the intense methodology. Along with their descriptions of the experiments, the contest required the students to attach some "raw data" from the reports.

Student Steve Halas said he was intrigued with a Dana-Farber study published last February on using tiny "nanoparticles" - specks of material millions of times smaller than a grain of sand - as potential delivery vehicles to deliver chemotherapy to stubborn lung tumors.

Halas' poster explained the idea, which was developed by Yolanda Colson, MD, PhD, a cardio-thoracic surgeon in the Dana-Farber/Brigham and Women's Cancer Center. "I didn't know they were figuring out so many different ways to treat cancer," said Halas.

David Caira titled his poster "Conquering Cancer Creatively." It described research on cancer "stem cells" in leukemia that was published by Scott Armstrong, MD, PhD, of Dana-Farber and Children's Hospital Boston, along with other scientists. Caira attached a diagram to his poster that illustrated how certain stem cells can spawn tumor cells and also copy themselves endlessly - making cancer in a sense "immortal."

"It's encouraging to hear about such motivated science teachers in our schools. It is very likely that reading about some of the latest discoveries in biomedical science will spark an interest in science that could have a long-lasting influence on students' career choices," commented Armstrong.

Connor Burke's poster was also on the topic of stem cell research and its potential for repairing unhealthy tissues. "I was really surprised to learn how many things you can turn stem cells into," he said. Caira, Burke, and the others who participated in the contest are among about 20 students selected to become honors science students in high school next year.

Judkins, a biologist by training, turned to teaching after working at NASA's Kennedy Space Center doing research on hydroponic plant-growth systems, used for feeding astronauts during future missions to Mars. She said that the poster contest, sponsored by the Chelmsford-based Massachusetts Society for Medical Research, made students aware of what a hub of biomedical science they live in.

Their participation in the contest seems to have rubbed off on the eighth-graders. Burke said he'd like to become "a neurologist, because science about the brain is interesting." Another student asked if stem cells might someday be a cure for cancer, and a third wondered, "What's the worst kind of cancer to have?"

Wayne Huynh, in part because he had a relative with brain cancer, says, "I want to get into a field where I can help people - I want to find a cure for cancer."

Most of the student posters are still in the hands of judges, awaiting the determination of prizes. Whatever the outcome, they will have had a glimpse of cancer research at Dana-Farber and its potential to save lives.

Elderly Drivers

who represents Wilmington, cosponsored legislation on the issue before the filing deadline in January, well before the tragic events of recent weeks have caused many in the public to ponder what, if anything, is being done to curb such tragedies.

"There are a number of approaches to this problem," said Tarr. "The main thing I want to express, is that we acknowledge that there is an issue, but there are a number of ways to look at this in a way that doesn't discriminate against anyone, but also ensures we are all safe on our roadways."

The Senator cosponsored H2241 with Representative Kay Kahn, which would require physicians that diagnose any cognitive or physical impairment to notify the Registry of Motor Vehicles. The registry would then be responsible for following up with the driver.

Another representative proposed that all drivers be tested every ten years to ensure competency across all age groups.

Senator Susan Tucker, who represents Tewksbury, according to radio station WTKK, supports the senate bill 1929 as does Representative James Miceli. Miceli, who represents Wilmington and Tewksbury, is the former owner of an insurance company and serves on the Joint Committee on Elder Affairs.

"The bill that seems to have the most mobility is Joyce's bill, because it's an issue that he's been pushing for year. It's a mandatory test at 85, and I don't have a problem with that," said Miceli. "If that's the bill that seems to have that much momentum, I'd be supportive."

With his insurance cap on, Miceli says that he thinks the seniors have taken a real burn rap in recent weeks.

"By and large, it's the younger folks that have most of the claims," said Miceli. "But these cases lately highlight a serious problem. I wouldn't fault them if at least they worked out a daytime license, but by and large I have no problem whatsoever with testing at age 85. I think a majority will support this testing."

Most seniors are reluctant to give up their car keys, afraid that they will lose their freedom to come and go as they please.

"They just feel that they are handcuffed without that license," said Miceli.

"I think all these actions brought a lot of attention to the issue. It's really difficult to figure out the steps to take, and it's tough to know where to turn," says Terry Marciello, Director of Elderly Services for Wilmington. "All of us that work with elders are very attentive to the issue to see what the next step will be. It is truly taking away someone's independence."

One option that Marciello touts is a program through New England Rehab Hospital called the Driver Education Program. Entrance into the program requires a referral by a physician and does require a fee. The program offers a clinical assessment with an occupational therapist, a visual test, muscle tone, response time and so forth. Drivers can also do an indoor simulation to improve reaction time and then take it a step further to a road test. "I think some people do question whether they should be driving. We can offer this to people so that they can make that judgment for themselves. I don't think that just because you are 85 means that you cannot drive," said Marciello.

There are resources in the Wilmington area for seniors that no longer drive. The Senior Center offers a van to transport seniors to doctor appointments and shopping, which is available to anyone 60 and over. The Ride, through the MBTA, is another transportation resource in the area.

to render such weapon inoperable by any person other than the owner or other lawfully authorized user."

Six youths were arrested far in connection with that robbery. Four were arraigned in Woburn District Court last fall on charges ranging from breaking and entering to possession of firearms (including a sawed off shotgun). Two of the six were minors and arraigned in juvenile court in Lowell. The four arraigned as adults are still waiting for their trial, on house arrest and wearing monitoring bracelets.

Court documents allege that at least 10 Wilmington youths, most attending the Shawsheen Tech, knew about the uninhabited, dilapidated house at 764 Woburn Street. Police reports stated that the youths indicated they saw ammunition scattered on the floor, a grenade, and a sword in addition to numerous firearms and knives in the house. The combination proved irresistible to the young men, ranging in age from 15 to 21 years.

According to police reports, several of the youths broke into the house, taking multiple firearms, including a .22 caliber rifle, a fully loaded .30 caliber semi-automatic rifle, a sawed-off shotgun, and a number of handguns. Further items stolen from the house included a box of arrows, a gas mask, and a variety of knives including a ten-inch "butterfly" knife and a "plunge" knife. Another suspect tried to pry open the handle to a large safe, breaking it in the process. Trigger locks on two large guns were easily pried off with knives, the boys said to police. Other guns, according to court documents, did not have trigger locks. Some firearms were found on the floor, a desk and a dresser in the house.

During the early stages of the investigation into the weapons theft, police asked Officer Stephen LaRivee to assess the house he rented, from which the guns were taken, to determine if anything was stolen. LaRivee, a firearms instructor for the Wilmington

Police Department, had not filed any reports about his house being broken into or any property stolen before the investigation began. He did confirm that the house was illegally entered and that several functional firearms including rifles, shotguns, and revolvers, were stolen.

Caira asked the veteran officer of 25 years to resign in November. By retiring, LaRivee kept his pension, though it will be smaller due to the earlier retirement. He is also no longer licensed to carry a firearm.

the railroad to repair its bridge. The town was to post the bridge for a six-ton limit and have police officers on duty at the bridge for two days to block heavy trucks from using it.

That repair lasted for about three years, and the attack came not from above but below. In May and June 1961, the bridge was hit not once but twice by piggy-back trailers on railroad cars. Again, the bridge was closed for repairs. This time, it was clearly the railroad's fault.

In the mid-1960s, a gravel pit was in operation at the old Shawsheen Pines airport, off Hopkins Street on the Billerica-Wilmington line. It seems that the owner had contracted for gravel to be delivered to Logan Airport, where a large expansion was underway. It wasn't long before one of the trucks broke the timbers of the Shawsheen Avenue bridge. The truck weighed 56 tons.

Again, the bridge was closed for months. Traffic was obliged to use the Bridge Lane bridge, a quarter-mile to the north, or use other routes.

At the time, town and state officials were planning a bypass around Wilmington Square. One proposed route would have built a road from Lowell Street to a point near Rocco's Restaurant, where it would cross Main Street and then cross the railroad. It would connect to Shawsheen Avenue.

The portion of Route 129 that currently runs from Main Street to Shawsheen Avenue was built in 1973-74. The project radically changed the area. Several homes were taken, one on Main Street, some on Brand Avenue and Wiser Street, and some on Shawsheen Avenue. At the beginning of 1975, the old Shawsheen Avenue bridge became a footbridge. And the Bridge Lane bridge was demolished.

The project cost $1.4 million and included a reconstruction of a portion of the old

Middlesex Canal as a historical park. However, nothing has ever been done with it, as there was no parking area included. The only access is by a long stairway from the bridge.

Then, just as a contract was to be put out to bid for the construction of the remainder of the by-pass project, the Environmental Protection Act was passed in Washington. Everything stopped. The by-pass, which would have gone through some swamp land, was never built.

The state has assumed responsibility for the railroad bridges, and one by one, Wilmington's old railroad bridges have been replaced: Nichols Street, Lake Street, Burlington Avenue and Eames Street all have modern, safe bridges. The bridge on Bridge Lane was never re-built. Only Butters Row has a bridge of the old wooden design. And motorists there still curse as they back down from the bridge.

Redmen alumni wrestle to raise cash

By MIKE GIANNATTASIO
Sports Correspondent

On Thursday, June 18th, the first annual Tewksbury Redmen Alumni Wrestling Match will be held to help raise money for the Redmen high school wrestling team. The event is going to be held at the Wynn Middle School from 7-9 p.m.

This fundraiser is going to include many alumni wrestling matches as 20-40 former Tewksbury Memorial High School wrestlers are estimated to show up and compete on the mats.

These participants will include: Al Donovan, Brian Aylward, Tom Aylward, Dave Shunamon, Steve O'Keefe, Mark Donovan, Bob Donovan, Mike Donovan, John Voto, Stephen Voto, Jason Voto, Paul Allen and Joe Carr.

Other TMHS alumni wrestlers that will step out on the mat again are Mike Keon, Chris Ryan, Pat Sands, Jim Tarpey, Dave French, Joel Altavesta, Scott Tremblett, Scott and John Devivo, and several more.

John Voto is one of the many coordinators and volunteers of the event, and he is looking forward to a great night on Thursday.

"We put together a Redmen Wrestling Club to help support the high school," said Voto. "We decided to get a bunch of TMHS former wrestlers together and have a good time to see what we can do."

The night will include the dedication of the new Tewksbury Wrestling Wall of Champions. This wall will represent 40 years of New England, All State, State, and Sectional Champions as well as Redmen team captains since the program's inception.

The wall was taken down when the Town of Tewksbury built the John W. Wynn Middle School, as it was formerly at the Tewksbury middle school. It was never put back up after the Wynn Middle School was completed, but that is all going to change on Thursday.

"When the board was taken down it was never put back up with the new gym at the Wynn Middle School," said Voto. "The Redmen Wrestling Club got together and we got the new board and it's going to go up on Thursday. It's awesome because if you are a wrestler you are inspired to get your name on the Tewksbury Wrestling Wall of Champions."

Voto added that he is expecting a great turnout of wrestlers and spectators for the fundraiser as it is going to be a great night for everyone involved.

"I'm looking forward to seeing everyone there and watching the wall go up," said Voto. "We are hoping to have all the former coaches and several formal wrestlers there."

Admission is $10 per adult, $5 for students, and kids under 12 are free.

If you are unable to attend the event, donations can be mailed to the Redmen Wrestling Club, 841 Main Street, Tewksbury, MA, 01876. All proceeds will benefit the Tewksbury Memorial High School wrestling team.

Wilmington U12 Division 4A Girls take Commissioners Cup Championship

This past weekend the top youth soccer teams from all over Middlesex County participated in the Commissioners Cup Championships at the Frasca Fields Complex in Tewksbury. The Wilmington U12 Division 4A Girls were coming off a 9-0 undefeated Spring season and came ready to play. They would compete in a 4 team round robin competition for the Division 4 crown.

Game 1 on Saturday was against another 9-0 undefeated team from Waltham. Were our girls up to the challenge? You bet. The first half was a close battle as Waltham took an early 1-0 lead, but the amazing defense of Krista "The Energizer Bunny" Tedesco and Hilary Hayes, would not give up. Wilmington stepped it up. Heather Trites who would play the first half in goal each game, turned back many shots and when Bridgette Santos scored the first of her many goals, the score stood at 1-1 at the half.

After a rousing half time speech by Head Coach Jim Cadogan, reminiscent of Vince Lombardi in his heyday, the girls were all fired up! The second half was highlighted by the return of Emma Ceres in net. Emma played like she never missed a game and shut down the stellar Waltham offense then going on to play the 2nd half of each game. Running Waltham ragged was the duo of Bridgette Cadogan and Victoria Ferreira, who were consistently beating the opponent to the ball with pressure and would not let up. When Heather intercepted a Waltham goal kick and fired a shot into the left corner for a 2-1 lead, the girls never looked back and went on to win 3-1.

The second game was against yet another undefeated team, Billerica at 8-0-1. The Cats came out on fire with the relentless aggressive pressure of Meghan Barrasso and the non stop ferociousness of Jenny Holloran, helped set up a few more goals for Santos and one from Jillian "The Speedster" Doyle. Billerica was in shock and couldn't recover. Jasmin Wolff was a terror on offense. The Cats won 5-3, with 2 late goals to make the score seem closer than it was.

The final game on Sunday afternoon was against dreaded rival Stoneham at 8-1. Their only loss was last week in a 2-1 barnburner to...yes the Cats. Stoneham was looking for revenge but Wilmington would have none of it. The Cats stormed out, from under our canopy, for this one. Krista put on her defensive game face and had Stoneham shaking their head in disbelief. Rachel Cummings and Brianna Perrino played great all around games just missing on scoring chances. Santos banged in a few more goals and Wilmington went on to win 3-0, finish the tourney with a 3-0 record and take home the Championship.

The girls were awarded Championship trophy's in a ceremony after the final game.

This was a great finish to a great year with a great bunch of girls!

Wilmington's U-15 Grey end season with another win defeating Melrose

Wilmington's U-15 boys lacrosse team played Melrose for their final game of the season on Sunday, May 14th in Melrose. Wilmington came out strong in the first quarter, lead by Cam Collins who won the face-off and assisted in the first goal for Wilmington, passing it to Chris Newton who scored, bringing the first goal on the scoreboard. Melrose came back though and scored their first goal soon after, tying the score 1-1.

Wilmington's Nolan Gaffey and Avery Woodbury played a strong defensive game, keeping Melrose from gaining possession throughout most of the game. Cam Owens won the face-off right before the end of the second quarter, gaining possession for Wilmington, helping Scott Manganelli score for Wilmington bringing his team ahead. Wilmington's Jay Rossetti fed the ball down field to Tim Hunt who scored the third goal for Wilmington and both boys were able to do it again soon after when Cam Owens won the face-off. The score was 4-2 at halftime and Wilmington was getting closer to end their season with another win.

At the start of the third quarter, Melrose was able to narrow the score to 4-3 but it wasn't enough. Wilmington lead a collaborative team effort, holding strong on defense, allowing their team to continually gain possession. Third and fourth quarter goals came from Cody McGowan, Tim Hunt, Cam Collins, Scott Manganelli and Cam Owens. Wilmington's goalie, Brian Reppucci, along with Sam D'Angelo, Andrew McDonaugh, Mike Silva and Nicholas Brown all played a tireless, strong game to end their season with a final win of a score of 11-7. Wilmington's U-15 team ended their season with 7 wins and only one loss.

Tewksbury girls Soccer round-up

GU12 Tewksbury 1 Burlington 0

Going in with a record of 2-5-1, the Tewksbury GU12 gave it their all to pick up a victory for their final scheduled game. Visiting team Burlington brought their game as they challenged the defense of Alexia Johnson, Kate Gilbert, Stephanie Travis and Nikilina Taromino, who effectively stopped anything in their zone. Of the few shots on goal that Burlington was able to manage, goal keeper Lauren Straine was there and allowed nothing past her. The first half was a back and forth battle with mid fielders Emily Donahue and Haley Aznavoorian continually feeding the offensive lines of Izabella De Veer, Megan Donahue, Gianna De Veer and Dimple Gandhi, Karah Chaisson, Aria Porzio. Despite several shots on the Burlington net, the Tewksbury girls were unable to convert anything to a goal ending the first half scoreless.

The second half seemed to progress much like the first, with both teams having shots on the goal but not being able to quite get it past the goalies. With approximately 2 minutes of game time left, Tewksbury offense Gianna De Veer was fouled by Burlington, setting up a penalty shot on goal. Midfielder Emily Donahue took the shot and drove it high into the right corner of the Burlington net, scoring what would be the winning goal. The Redmen girls held on for the remainder of the game and ended their season with a shut out against Burlington.

Teamwork, determination and drive were the key elements to their success as they finish the season with a record of 3-5-1.

BU10-3 Tewksbury 6 Burlington 3

The game was played Saturday morning first thing in Burlington. The players were a little cold to start but warmed up when the game began. It was both teams last game and both teams were tied in the division for 3rd place. It was very exciting because both teams wanted to come away with the win on their last game. Tewksbury took advantage first with Brian Lefebvre taking a direct kick high in the top corner of the goal. That opened up the flood gates. Shortly after Brian found himself on a break all alone and blasted a screaming shot past the Burlington keeper for his 2nd goal of the game. The Tewksbury team was on a roll early in the game. The next group consisting of Cole Wescott, Anthony Medeiros, Bradley Richardson, Nick Walsh, Richard Aronson came on the field wanting to out due their prior team mates. It wasn't long before Cole Wescott got into the action by working his way through the middle of the field and putting one past the Burlington keeper. The defense of Noah Canto, Zach Pereira, Nick Walsh and Richard Aronson held off the Burlington team to just 4 shots in the half. They played exceptional together covering up each others aggressive plays to keep the ball in Burlington's half of the field. The last group of forwards Brian Lefebvre, Sam Fortier and Brandon Coolidge came out strong with many shots against the Burlington keeper. Sam Fortier muscled his way through 2 defenders coming down the right side and placed a perfect shot low to the diving Burlington keeper making it 4-0 at the half. The coach decided to move some of the players around to forwards and defense. Billy Eagan went to defense along with Anthony Medeiros while Richard Aronson, Noah Canto, Nick Walsh moved forward. Richard, Noah and Nick all had great scoring opportunities putting shots at point blank range on the Burlington keeper. The Burlington team took advantage of the position changes and scored 2 quick goals. Burlington was putting it back together. Immediately, after their goals Cole Wescott answered back with his own attack making the score 5-2. Everyone went back to playing their normal positions to fend off the attacking Burlington team. With Burlington on a role, they fired everything they had at Tewksbury's keeper Chris Reppucci. He was all over the net making saves, kicking balls out, whatever he could do to keep the pressure off him. They had people crossing in front of the goal, hitting the goal posts twice on the same drive, they were everywhere and seem to come alive. Then Bradley Richardson received a pass from Brian Lefebvre from the left side of the field and placed a perfect ball high over the Burlington keepers hands scoring the 6th and final goal for Tewksbury. Burlington wasn't done yet and added another goal past the diving Chris Reppucci. The game ended Tewksbury 6, Burlington 3. I want to thank all the parents for their support and the players for a great season, it has been a pleasure to coach you this season and over the years. Coach Nick Canto.

dig deep and they fought a tough battle all game long. Samantha Mercurio had the first half duties in net and was ready for whatever Reading was going to bring. She stopped all 5 shots on net and did an outstanding job. The defense in front of her was once again solid and lead by Emily Sessa and Kayleigh Bishop as well as Isabelle Picher and Rachel Sessa. The forwards were short handed so had their work cut out for them on the bumpy, sloped field. Lindsay Harris led the charge in the first half with some aggressive play and had a good left footed shot that didn't make it past the tough Reading goal keeper. The first half ended scoreless and both teams came out roaring in the second half as they both needed this win. Mercurio came out of net to join forwards Samantha Surowiec, Kelly Foriter, and Kayla Makooi on the offense attack. Imani Jose picked up where Mercurio left off in net and kept the Redman in the game. Mercurio and Emily Sessa pushed the offense and both got a shot off but the Reading goalie did not allow any rebounds and Tewksbury wasn't able to get one by her. Picher stole the ball and went end to end with a great bid to break the tie but Reading broke up her bid for a goal. With just minutes to play Fortier's shot was wide and Surowiec tried to track it down but the goalie got there first and scooped the ball up and cleared it out to midfield. It was Reading's turn to put the pressure on and they were able to place a high, sailing shot over Jose but she timed her leap perfectly and deflected the ball up and over the goal. The second half had everyone on the edge of their seats and was exciting to watch.

The game ended with 0 - 0 tie. The Redman did all they could to try and win this game and held their heads high. Their coaches and parents are all proud of their efforts this season and look forward to a good showing in the Mass Cup at the end of month.

BU12-4 A Tewksbury - 4 Reading - 2

Goal Scorers: Joey Abbott - 3, Thomas Willegal - 1 Game Summary: Tewksbury utilized a balanced offensive attack early in the game to get out ahead on the scorecard. Reading came within one on a strong attack but the entire Tewksbury team met the challenge with some of the seasons best defense, and then put another two in the net to close the season with a strong win against a very able opponent.

GU14-3 Tewksbury 0 Burlington 5

Tewksbury GU14-3 girls' team played their final regular season game on Saturday, June 6th at Rahans Park, Patriot Field vs the Burlington GU14-3 team under sunny skies. Tewksbury faced a Burlington offense who made good use of passing and scored early in the first half. Defensive players Grace Ciampa, Jacqueline Farraher, Brittney Pachuki, Zoe Neadson, and Michaela Swift with midfielders Briana Andella, Renee Lerette, Hannah Lewis, and Annalise Carroll all worked to retain possession and move the ball to their forwards, but couldn't keep back a strong Burlington line. Forwards Dezarae Dixon, Olivia Tambone, Ina Small, and Erin Doherty had several opportunities, but were unable to find the mark. The half found the Tewksbury team down 0-3, and Burlington scored two more early in the second. Goalie Sarah Gilbert played net for most of the game, but was rotated into the field in the second half with Analise Carroll taking on the goal-keeper duties. Despite efforts to control the ball and make the passes count, the final score held at 0-5 in favor of the Burlington team. Although their season record finished up at 2-7, the Tewksbury girls' GU14-3 team is looking forward to one more great weekend of soccer on June 20th and 21st for the Mass Cup Challenge. Please check out <http://tewksburyyouthsoccer.org/> for details and more information. four goals of the game, three in the first half. Midfielder Darien Lavino, who controlled the midfield for much of this game, got things started with a nice pass over to right forward Brittany Fletcher who pounded a rocket of a shot into the far top corner of the net. The next goal came on a corner kick from sweeper Hannah Silvia who struck another great kick in the air, into the goal box as she has done consistently this season, and this time got credit for the goal as it went in the net off a defender. The third goal was set up by center forward Paige Small while on the attack she made a lead pass over to forward Stephanie Giles who made a nice shot into the far corner past the goaltender.

The second half started with another Tewksbury goal this time on a great individual hustle play by left forward Christine Baptiste who challenged the Reading defender, won the ball, went in on the goalie and beat her with a low shot into the left corner. Reading fought back late in the second half and scored two quick goals. Tewksbury buckled down and went on the attack finishing the scoring of the game when Janina Kennedy passed over to the left Forward Kiera Lawlor who netted the ball with a nice left foot finish like she had been practicing on all season.

The game was defended well by Michelle Farraher, Mary Bliss, Hillary Fletcher and Emily Veloza making very difficult for the opponent to mount a serious attack. Goaltending duties were shared by Janina Kennedy and Michelle Farraher.

The Tewksbury GU12 - 3 finished off a very good season with a win-loss-tie record of 6-2-1 in their division.

Pension bill looks to alleviate the pressure on a pension system damaged by economy

By PAUL FEELY

Massachusetts lawmakers unanimously approved a bill last week, which Governor Deval Patrick signed Tuesday afternoon, that looks to overhaul the state's pension system and shut down some of its most egregious abuses.

The bill looks to end a "termination allowance" for lawmakers who are not re-elected and eliminate a "one-day/one-year" rule allowing elected officials to be credited with a year's service for just one day's work in a calendar year.

It also limits the definition of "compensation" to wages and salary, banning the use of housing benefits, car-related costs and other bonuses to inflate pensions.

The bill won bipartisan support in both chambers, and Gov. Patrick was pleased to sign it.

"Today, we make good on a promise to the public to restore trust in government," said Governor Patrick. "I am proud to be standing alongside Senate President Murray and Speaker DeLeo and commend the Legislature for taking this critical step to eliminate the abuses and gamesmanship that for too long have threatened the system's credibility and ultimate sustainability for all public workers."

"This is a major step forward," Senate President Therese Murray said. "We have, once and for all, put an end to the most serious abuses and answered the public outcry for significant changes in our pension system. This was a bi-partisan, cooperative effort to fix a system that allowed too many to take unfair advantages. Not only have we ended these abuses, we will also continue to look at more complex issues within the system for more comprehensive reforms and savings for the Commonwealth."

The bill looks to help alleviate the pressure on a pension system that appears to be somewhat in disarray, suffering the same diminishing investment returns as many private 401K funds across the nation.

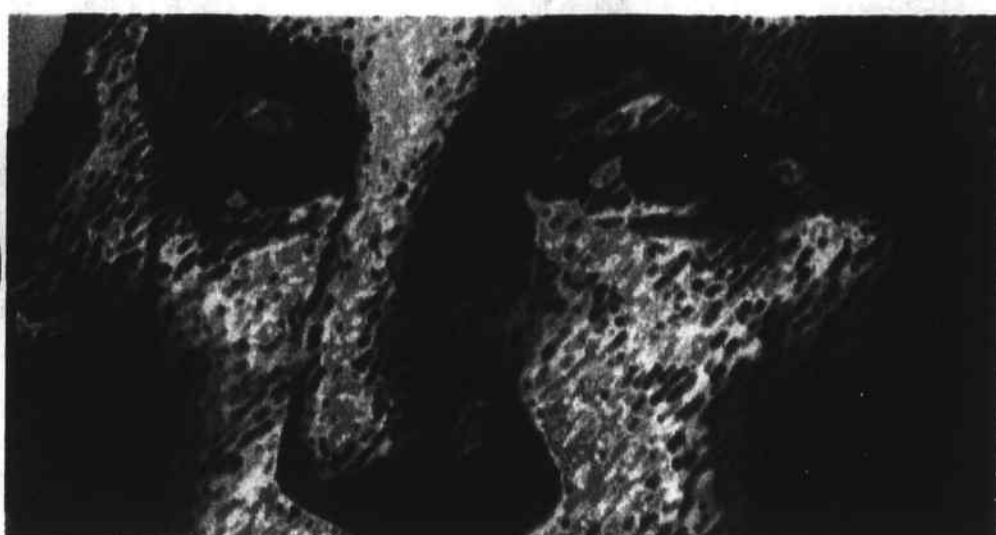

According to the 2008 Massachusetts Public Employee Retirement Administration Commission Investment Report, at the beginning of 2008, 41 local systems invested all (or essentially all) of their assets in the PRIT Core Fund. During the year, another eight systems joined PRIT, either voluntarily or as a result of Chapter 68. Assets of these 49 systems totaled nearly $4.4 billion at year-end.

Performance for 2008 among the 104 local systems ranged from -19.3% to -33.1%. The median return was -28.0% and the composite return was -28.6%. For the 63 systems that began 2008 investing on their own, the median return was -26.6%.

The median return for the 41 local systems that invested totally with PRIT for the entire year was -29.3%, slightly better than that of the PRIT Fund itself (-29.5%).

According to the report, the 2008 returns for local communities included:

- Reading down 29.42 percent, with a 75.7 percent funded ratio;
- Stoneham down 29.28 percent, with a 68.2 percent funded ratio;
- Wakefield down 29.5 percent, with an 80.6 percent funded ratio;
- Winchester down 25.72 percent, with an 81.5 percent funded ratio;
- and Woburn down 26.63 percent, with a 77.9 percent funded ratio.

Wall Street

The ten local systems with the best performance last year registered losses of between -19.3% and -22.5%. They were all among the commonwealth's smaller systems; portfolio asset sizes ranged from $7.5 million to $130 million. Five of these systems do not employ an investment consultant and utilize only one investment manager for substantially all their equity and fixed income assets. These systems generally had well-above-average cash positions, several in the range of 20% and one as high as 26%. In several cases, the systems made strategic moves during the course of the year to decrease their exposure to risky assets and increase their holdings of cash.

According to the State of the Pension System Report for 2009, Reading, Winchester, Stoneham and Woburn are all listed among the 13 communities scheduled to be fully funded in or before 2025, and are using an investment return assumption that is at or lower than eight percent.

The purpose of this report is to provide an overview of the public pension systems in Massachusetts, particularly in relation to the funding, investment, and benefit structure under which those systems operate.

The increasing focus on the public pension system in Massachusetts and across the country has brought forward many opinions about the fiscal condition, benefit structure, administrative, and investment performance of the trustees responsible for the management of those systems.

Massachusetts lawmakers took a state towards alleviating the public perception of the pension system last week by unanimously approving a bill to overhaul the system and shut down some of its biggest abuses.

But some said the bill doesn't go nearly far enough to make the systemic changes needed to bring about real savings in the pension system.

Senate Minority Leader Richard Tisei, R-Wakefield, said one proposal not included in the bill would have changed a rule that allows employees who are fired to immediately begin collecting their pensions.

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"THE TAKING OF PELHAM 123"

"THE TAKING OF PELHAM 123" stars John Travolta as the leader of a team of gunmen who take over a New York City subway and hold the passengers for ransom. The acting is good, and the movie has enough action to keep the pace moving

"THE TAKING OF PELHAM 123"

GRADE: **

A team of gunmen, led by a tattooed Ryder (John Travolta) takes over a New York subway and holds the passengers for ransom, dealing by radio with a harried transit authority dispatcher (an overweight Denzel Washington), who is under suspicion of receiving a bribe, so has been temporarily demoted. Ryder tells Garber that he wants $10 million in cash in one hour or he will start killing the passengers, one a minute.

That's the basic plot behind the remake of "The Taking of Pelham 123", an update in modern-day New York that works pretty well, once you get over thinking about how the villains could possibly have gotten so many firearms onto a subway train.

Tony Scott's direction is typically manic, but effectively suspenseful. The movie would probably have been even better if the two stars had switched roles: As always when he plays a villain, Travolta hams it up, eager to remind us that he's only acting and we shouldn't hate him.

While both Travolta and Washington give interesting performances, I thought that two supporting actors, John Turturro, who plays Lt. Vincent Camonetti, the professional negotiator advising Garber, and James Gandolfini, who plays the New York Mayor, equaled the two superstars. Another good performance is given by Michael Rispoli, who plays Garber's boss, John Johnson. Johnson firmly believes in Garber's guilt and clearly doesn't like him.

The cinematography is also very good. As in most action films there are some car crashes that are impressively done. The film provides enough action in between all the talk between Ryder and Garber that the pace keeps flowing.

"THE HANGOVER"

GRADE: ***

"The Hangover" will leave you feeling like you just spent the night of your life - spent, exhausted, and not quite sure what just happened - but loving every minute of it.

Our story begins on the wedding day of Doug (Justin Bartha) and Tracy (Sasha Barrese). The phone rings, and the bride hears the voice of best man Phil (Bradley Cooper), whose first words to her are, "We (blanked) up."

Flashback two days earlier, when Doug and Phil are joined by Alan and Stu (Ed Helms of "The Office") on a road trip to Las Vegas. Upon checking in to Caesar's Palace, the four make a Jagermeister toast to what looks to be the best bachelor party ever.

Flash forward many, many hours later. Three of the four have passed out in a trashed hotel suite, clueless about what has happened. And they have only a few hours to find the absent groom.

Unlike so many Vegas movies before it, "The Hangover" avoids glamorizing alcohol-fueled, consequence-free debauchery. Instead, it focuses on the aftermath of buffoonery and the mystery of the epic night out.

Like 'Memno', but after a few margaritas.

Director Todd Phillips also filmed "Old School," another quotable college-guy movie that eventually found its way into heavily censored rotation on basic cable. Intentional or not, the screenplay so closely follows the "Old School" template, it almost could be mistaken as its prequel.

Even the band from "Old School" shows up (one of the few jokes that doesn't work).

And like "Old School," "Hangover" assembles a solid cast - from Helms' henpecked dentist Stu and the excellent Rachael Harris as his cheating girlfriend to Rob Riggle as an overzealous Vegas cop and Ken Jeong (the angry OB/GYN from "Knocked Up") as an effeminate and angry hostage.

"The Hangover" is vulgar, raunchy, and filthy (as the credits roll, a couple of shots probably should have tilted it toward an NC-17 rating). That being said, I think I laughed out loud at "The Hangover" more times than I have at any movie this year.

"UP"

GRADE: ****

So how could the star of a kids movie possibly be an ornery 78-year-old retired widower? As usual, the folks at Pixar have found a way to make it work, and in a beautiful way, in their newest film Up.

As in past films, the clever minds at Pixar have come up with a major twist while utilizing first-rate animation to tell a great story, with a toe-tapping musical score. The film is shown in 3D in several theaters but can be enjoyed just as well in conventional theaters.

Edward Asner voices Carl Fredricksen, whose life unfolds on screen - from his

About the Towns

by Phyllis Nissen

BUILDING THROUGH-WAYS

ANNUAL PERENNIALS, WINCHESTER

Town Meeting members voted a while ago on the first three articles. "The first article asked Town Meeting members to hear and act upon reports of Town Officials and the Finance Committee.

The second concerned amending the zoning by-law. The third article was in regards to expanding the number of restaurant licenses serving wine and malt beverages containing 24 or more seats from five to nine and adding five more wine/beer licenses for restaurants with 70 or more seats," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Article 1 allowed for speakers to address the audience from the Finance Committee, Board of Selectmen, School Committee, Planning Board, Library Trustees, Committee on Government Regulations, Committee on Rules, and for the first time, Disability Access Commission. The Town Manager would also speak. "The Chair of the Finance Committee, Elizabeth Ghoniem, talked about Winchester being in an enviable position due to their long-term planning and rate of growth. They have been able to maintain the same level of services even though the Town Manager and School Superintendent installed a hiring freeze.

"Chair Ghoniem mentioned the $800,000 in Chapter 70 money Winchester was due to receive, but said there could be restrictions placed on the money.

"Chairman of the Board of Selectmen Brian O'Connor went over the Selectmen's philosophy, which was to 'never waste a good crisis.' He felt these tough economic times were an opportunity for improvement, not something that would drag the town down.

youthful fantasies to the end of his long, happy marriage to Elle. This brief, wordless but charming montage documents Carl and Elle's life-long romance.

And that gives the Pixar folks the ability to bring in the obligatory cute and cuddly Disney animals - namely, a funny bird named Kevin and a lovable dog named Dug, who sports a collar that lets him speak, sort of.

"He talked about the Selectmen reaching out to other boards in other towns. 'In the past, Selectmen would react,' he noted, 'but today, we need to be proactive and reactive.'"

WATER POWER, WILMINGTON

Selectmen briefly discussed a letter from the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, whose Advisory Board adopted dual recommendations ensuring Wilmington has access to MWRA water when it is needed," notes the Wilmington "Town Crier."

"... At its March 19, 2009 meeting, the MWRA Advisory Board voted unanimously to support the application of the Town of Wilmington to become a member of the MWRA Waterworks System. The Advisory Board's Executive and Operations Committees also unanimously approved the motion at their March 12 and March 19 meetings respectively.

"Upon approval of the application the MWRA Advisory Board issued seven conditions that the town must meet in order to become part of the water distribution system. The town, at various meetings leading up to Town Meeting next month, has already discussed many of them.

"First, the town had to obtain Town Meeting approval ... as well as legislative and gubernatorial approval prior to admission.

"Next, Wilmington must continue to protect and maintain all local sources of supply, unless the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) declares a source unfit for drinking and too expensive to restore to potable quality.

Since the discovery of contamination of the Maple Meadow aquifer,ilmington has kept the five affected wells offline. Those wells had been shut down prior to the discovery of N-Nitrosodimethylamine (NDMA) due to a concern over increased levels of nitrates.

"Third, the MWRA requires that the town continue to maintain all reasonable conservation measures, abide by all conditions within the Water Resources Commission and follow MWRA regulations for leak detection...."

CONE-UNDRUM IN STONEHAM

"Warning that the local landmark could be shuttered for a site plan violation, the town's Selectmen ... gave the owners of Dairy Dome six months to figure out a new parking plan for the establishment," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"With Paul Rotondi as the lone dissenter, the Selectmen on Tuesday voted 4-to-1 to grant owners Thomas and Diane Mayo a six month extension on their Feb. of 2007 site plan approval for an expansion of the longtime ice cream shop.

"The popular Main Street business, known for its gold-domed roof, recently expanded to a full-service restaurant. Located just outside of Stoneham Square, the establishment has traditionally been a seasonal ice-cream spot.

"Representing the Mayos, local attorney Charles Houghton admitted his client made a mistake when he erected a 24-foot addition onto the Main Street business and failed to comply with requirements for a curb-cut and four additional parking spaces on the Middle Street side of the property.

"Both the Selectmen and the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) tacked the parking requirements onto their approvals of the expansion, which allowed the eatery to start serving Italian-style fare...."

"...Sweeney and Selectman Frank Vallarelli both agreed that the applicants should have a chance to address the situation before being essentially forced to close the business' doors...."

"I've never liked cars coming out onto Middle Street, because it's a narrow street and there are always cars on it," Vallarelli later said. "But we're not here to put people out of business. We're here to make sure businesses thrive."

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: What former LA Dodgers All Stars and Most Valuable Player had his number retired by another team? Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Austin Preparatory School's Varsity Girls Tennis team completed their season undefeated. Their record is 18-0 in the Catholic Central League. Coach Natalie Petrillo says, "This is an amazing group of girls. They work hard and never give up. All the girls are 100% supportive of each other and their teamwork has made us successful. Each member of the team contributed to our record."

The first doubles team of JENNA MACONE (STONEHAM) AND

LAUREN HENEHAN (BEVERLY) were also undefeated at first doubles. Both players have excellent serves and are always in position to put the ball away for the win. CAPTAIN KATHERINE ROSCILLO (WOBURN) held steady at 1st singles with a record of 14-3. SECOND SINGLES KERRY BAILEY (NORTH READING) was a consistent win with a record of 10-4 at second. Austin heads into the State Tournament next week.

The University of New Hampshire women's lacrosse team gathered for its annual banquet Sunday afternoon to commemorate the accomplishments of its student-athletes and the 2009 Wildcat team that was in the national rankings all 11 weeks and finished with 12 wins, the fourth-highest total in the program's 33-year history.

The Offensive MVP was presented to senior attacker Sarah Von Bargen (East Setauket, N.Y.), and classmate Beth Stankus (Derry, N.H.) was cited as the Defensive MVP.

SENIOR CO-CAPTAINS MICHAELA HARDY (READING) and Kelli LaPerch (Brewster, N.Y.) were co-recipients of the Coaches' Award, which is presented in recognition of a player who embodies the spirit of UNH women's lacrosse with tireless effort and selfless giving to the team without hesitation.

Hardy, an America East All-Conference First Team and All-Academic Team honoree for the second time in as many years, ranked second on the team in goals (33) as well as fifth in both points (37) and caused turnovers (15); she also tallied double digits in ground balls. The midfielder recorded a point in 14 of 19 games with 12 multiple-point efforts, including 11 multiple-goal performances. Hardy's season highlights included a five-goal game against Stony Brook University and a five-point (4g, 1a) effort at Binghamton University. She recorded her 100th career point and 100th career goal in the 2009 season.

KEAGAN GALLAGHER A JUNIOR AT READING MEMORIAL HIGH SCHOOL, represented the Lower New England region at the Womens Division National Lacrosse tournament in Baltimore, Maryland on Memorial Day Weekend.

She was nominated to try-out by her coach along with approximately 200 other girls. After the morning session it was cut to 80 girls of which 60 made it. There are 3 teams from this region. There were a number of college coaches in attendance because the Womens Division I lacrosse tournament was also played there that weekend. Keagan has been a three year starter at RMHS for lacrosse and also play for the Mass Elite club team. She also plays varsity field hockey and ice hockey.

Need some help with this week's question? His initials are S.G.

THE RMHS GIRLS LAX TEAM features many Middlesex League All Star selections. The girls finished 2nd in the Middlesex league and went on to play in the Div 1 North Final game against Framingham (lost 18-12), the farthest into the postseason the girls lax team has ever gone. They finished the season ranked 10th in the state. Their seniors broke many team scoring records and the team had an outstanding season 16-5. The following girls were chosen as Middlesex League All Stars: Team 1 SENIORS ALLY STAGER, MEGHAN MCGOLDRICK, CHARLOTTE MARSH AND JUNIOR KEAGAN GALLAGHER. TEAM 2 JUNIORS KATELYN CARUSO, RACHEL MCCARTHY AND SENIOR JULIA RAFFERTY.

NORTH READING'S STEVE PALAZZOLO is currently 1-1 with a 5.13 ERA in 20 games pitching for the San Francisco Giants AAA club, the Fresno Grizzlies.

Incumbent starting quarterback R.J. Toman (Mission Viejo, Calif.) completed 7 of 9 passes for 133 yards and one touchdown - a 61-yard strike to All-America tight end Scott Sicko (Stillwater, N.Y.) - in the University of New Hampshire's annual spring Blue/White scrimmage recently at Cowell Stadium. Sicko ended the game with three receptions for 90 yards.

Dontra Peters (Annapolis, Md.) ran for touchdown scores of one yard and four yards and totaled 45 yards on 10 carries. He split time in the backfield with Shawn Sweeney (Plymouth, N.H.), who had nine rushes for 43 yards.

Sean Jellison (Amherst, N.H.) was the leading ground gainer in the game with 70 yards on 14 carries. In limited playing time, Chad Kackert (Simi Valley, Calif.) had five rushes for 18 yards and one catch for 15 yards.

CHRIS CHANDLER (WAKEFIELD, MASS.) finished with a game-high four receptions for 41 yards, including a long of 13.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Steve Garvey had his number retired by the San Diego Padres.

"What is costing the Commonwealth millions of dollars are all these state employees who get fired a day after they reach their 20 years," Tisei said. "We're leaving a lot of abuses on the table."

House Minority Leader Brad Jones, who represents Reading and North Reading, issued the following statement about the bill.

"This is a good first step in the right direction, albeit a long overdue first step. My caucus and I are pleased to see so many of our proposals and initiatives have been included in the final version of the bill including the removal of Section 10 pensions for elected officials who are not re-nominated or re-elected as well as the elimination of the wasteful one day, one year rule."

"I am cautiously optimistic that the contents of this bill will go a long way in restoring the public's trust in its elected officials. No one ever said creating and implementing meaningful reforms would be an easy job. It has been, and will continue to be a tough process and the Republican Caucus is eager to see its efforts come to fruition."

"I'm proud to have been a strong advocate for this important reform of our public pension system," said Winchester State Representative Jason Lewis. "The reforms in this bill will apply to all current and future state employees and elected officials who retire after July 1, 2009, so we will see the impact of this legislation almost immediately."

There are a number of significant reforms in this bill, including:

- Eliminates the "one day, one year" provision that allows elected officials to claim a full year of credible service for working one day in a calendar year
- Eliminates a provision that has allowed some elected officials to claim early, enhanced pensions when they choose not to seek re-election after 20 years of service
- Redefines "regular compensation" upon which pensions are calculated to exclude benefits like housing, lodging, travel, and other similar allowances
- Eliminates current provisions that enable some public officials to establish pension credit for service in positions that have no or minimal compensation
- Extends the "vesting" requirement for elected officials from 6 years to 10 years
- Eliminates a loophole that allows individuals receiving pension benefits to return to work and receive a full salary in addition to pension benefits if the individuals are classified as "consultants" or "independent contractors"
- Reforms the current accidental disability retirement benefit so that it is tied to the 12-month average of compensation received prior to the date of injury (this eliminates the so-called "king for a day")

In addition to these and other critical reforms, the bill also establishes a Commission to investigate additional ways to reform our pension system to ensure fiscal soundness.

"The legislature has chalked up a major victory for reform," said Pam Wilnot, executive director of Common Cause Massachusetts. "The bill closes loopholes in the law and will prevent some of the most significant abuses in the pension system."

A legislative blue ribbon commission has been appointed to recommend additional changes to the pension system. Their report is due Sept. 1. Those recommendations could include putting a cap on the total level of pension benefits and fixing abuses to the disability pension system.

"The Legislature has taken a monumental step forward with this piece of legislation," Representative Mark Falzone, who represents Wakefield, stated in a release.

"This legislation is a critical piece of the House's reform agenda," Representative Katherine Clark, who also represents Wakefield, stated. "By closing some loopholes, the Legislature

"This program is the best I have ever taken as far as learning leadership skills as well as having the confidence to speak in front of a variety of people. The club meets on the 2nd and 4th Mondays of the month at 7pm at the Americal Civic Center in Wakefield. Guests are always welcome. The next meeting will be held on Monday, June 8.

For additional information on improving communication and leadership skills through Toastmasters International, please contact club President Charlotte Wood (wood3153@aol.com) or visit <http://lakesiders.freetoasthost.com>.

Working out with the staff is always fun: I feel great afterwards and enjoy my sessions so much! They are supportive and make sure I work hard during the sessions.

Before it was difficult to motivate myself to exercise even once a week, and now I look forward to my sessions at the gym -- three times a week. I am eating healthier, feel stronger, have more energy and am generally more upbeat.

until the early 1920s. Easily identifiable features in this plan include the low-pitched gabled roof with decorative braces, distinctive window treatment (multiple upper sash, single below), and a porch supported by squared stone veneer columns.

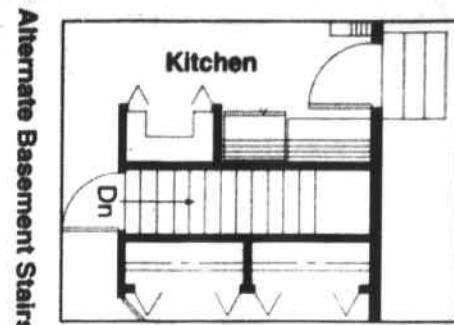

Fieldstone was the chosen material here. You see it in the visible porch foundation, in the handsome square chimney, beneath the tapered wooden piers supporting the porch roof, and in columns that punctuate the simple wooden railings bounding the uncovered side deck/porch.

Entering, you step directly into the vaulted living room. The ceiling slopes down towards the fieldstone fireplace, which serves as a natural focal point. Daylight washes in through windows and doors on two sides of the room. The door to the right of the fireplace offers access to the side deck, handy for outdoor dining when warm weather beckons.

Arched openings lead into the Pinewald's comfortable country kitchen on the left, and the bedrooms on the right. The kitchen, too, is vaulted. In this case, the ceiling peaks about half way into the room. Four double-sashed windows capped by two clerestory windows fill most of the side wall, which rises to a triangular peak centered over the glass.

Utilities are nearby, in a pass-through space that leads to the rear door. If a basement is desired, the utilities would be downstairs with the stairs in this location instead.
